Dear Accepted Student,

My name is Dr. Christine Feeley. I am an adjunct faculty member in Adelphi’s Derner Institute of Advanced Psychological Studies. I will be working with you during the 2-week course this upcoming summer. Over the course of this time, we will be focusing on popular media and how the basic principles of psychological can be utilized to analyze both fictional characters and individuals such as celebrities and other influential people in our society. We will be discussing various psychological theories and their applications. As part of the course of study, we will be taking field trips including a visit to the Living Museum at Creedmoor Psychiatric Hospital. We will also concentrate on the psychological research by examining current research studies and through academic videos. There will be no specific textbook needed for the course, but numerous research articles will be explored. It is expected that the course material be read by the student. There will also be different written assignments required. Lastly, a final exam will be given, culminating the 2-week course.

I look forward to meeting you over the summer. It will be an interesting and enjoyable course that you will be able to take with you in your future endeavors.

Sincerely,

Dr. Christine Feeley
